

Simplifying

Web Site Management

Your Own Personal WOW!

Our start-up solution includes two hours of consultation with you to help outline your dream web site. The FlackVentures team will talk about priorities, about the needs of you and your visitor, and we'll give you a plan of attack for your new site. Our developers will spend five hours of time giving you a solid, clean, hardworking employee that will be an asset to your business.

Four Hours to WOW!

Give us four hours and we'll go through your site page by page and image by image. We'll analyze your statistics; we'll go through our time-tested checklist to see how your site is performing, both technically and as a marketing tool. After our four hour analysis, we'll present you with a report of the top things we'd change in ten hours of development.

We Find Your WOW Together!

The hard work and success you have achieved can be enhanced for that next great leap in your business strategy by implementing purposeful and practical web technologies, content management, and integrated marketing approaches to bring the right people to the right information at the time they are prepared to purchase. We also build in best practice customer service components to help you keep and grow your customer base.

There is no greater gift for a child's future than their education. You give of yourselves every day to make that gift the best it can be. You deserve websites that reflect your impeccable standards and dedication to quality. The FlackVentures team will work with you to ensure that quality across the board.

A school's website shouldn't only be easy to read and visit but easy to update, modify, and keep current. You need to know that information is easily available for your users. You need to know that updates will happen smoothly and seamlessly. You want to make sure the information is clear, the visuals are compelling, and the management is trouble free. We're here to make sure that happens.

The relationship between students, families, and schools is one of constant interaction and community. Your schools give to the students through their classes and activities, the students give back by becoming part of the school's energy and legacy. Their involvement makes your community richer and your website is a vital tool in that interaction.

A website is more than just a collection of pages; it is your complete presence on the web. Your FlackVentures team has over 40 years of collective expertise in website programming, implementation, integration, and training. We have the skills needed to make your track record of quality, your commitment to your community, and your dedication to your students the driving force behind that presence.
